In 2012, Kimco Realty began constructing a visionary mixed-use redevelopment village center in Columbia, Maryland. Kimco Realty focused on three areas as their guiding design and construction principles in the development of Wildelake Village Center: Connectivity, Community Interaction, and Environmental Impact. Since 2012, Lorax has worked with Kimco to certify the entire Master Site for the Village, as well as the Market Building and CVS stores. The Market Building, the anchor of the village center, will feature two levels with dedicated mercantile space for a specialty grocer on the ground floor and tenant office spaces on the second floor.
